San Antonio Title Industry Professional Honored by Statewide Trade Association

AUSTIN – The Texas Land Title Association (TLTA), one of the state’s oldest trade associations, recently named Bruce D. Liesman of San Antonio an Honorary Member for Sustained Meritorious Service. The award was presented during TLTA’s 2020 Virtual Annual Conference and Business Meeting.

This prestigious honor is awarded rarely and is reserved for industry leaders who have provided exemplary service to both the association and the title industry over many years.

“Bruce has won every other TLTA award, so it’s only fitting he joins the ranks today of the title professionals who’s selfless service have raised the bar for the entire industry,” said Leslie Midgley, Executive Vice President and CEO of TLTA. “Bruce has never been satisfied with the status quo, and he combined his great intellect, his passion for education and training, his gift for creativity, his extensive knowledge of the law and his love for this industry into a powerful machine for change and improvement that made our industry stronger and will benefit all title professionals now and into the future.”

Liesman became involved with TLTA early in his nearly four-decade-long career. In the early 1990s he received TLTA’s Outstanding Young Title Person Award, the Peggy Hayes Teaching Award in 1997, the James H. Garst President’s Award in 1998, and TLTA’s Title Person of the Year in 2009. In addition to serving as TLTA President from 2005-2006, Liesman chaired key TLTA committees during his tenure.

Liesman holds TLTA’s Certified Abstract Examination Professional and Certified Title Insurance Professional designations, and he earned his Juris Doctor from The University of Texas. He currently resides in San Antonio with his wife and two daughters.
