Plano Title Industry Professional Receives Prestigious Award from Statewide Trade Association

AUSTIN – The Texas Land Title Association (TLTA), one of the state's oldest trade associations, recently presented Geri Hosterman, a senior vice president with First National Title Insurance Company, with the esteemed Professional Excellence Award. The award recognizes those in the title industry who are making a difference behind the scenes and highlights their extraordinary achievement. Winners of this award are nominated by their co-workers or peers and all received strong recommendations.

"We are thrilled to present Geri with this award," said Leslie Midgley, Executive Vice President and CEO of TLTA. "She truly exemplifies professional excellence in the Texas title industry."

Prior to entering the title industry twenty years ago, Hosterman worked on the TLTA staff as the association's communications manager. Over the years, she has stayed active in TLTA as a volunteer leader, serving on a number of TLTA committees, including as chairman of the Land Title School Committee.

Prior to her current role as senior vice president at First National Title Insurance Company in Plano, she worked for a Texas-based regional underwriter as agency representative and served as agency operations manager and vice president of a Texas agency. She earned a bachelor's degree from the University of Texas at Austin in journalism.
